#INNOVATHENS

ALIEN project summary

Advanced Learning and Inclusive Environment (ALIEN) for Higher Education through greater knowledge and understanding of migration processes

The project aims at contributing to greater equity and social cohesion within Europe, through a series of knowledge-exchange activities with diverse stakeholders (academics, national and local authorities, migrant community organisations) and through the understanding of complexities of migration flows.

Given the critical context of the current refugee crisis in Europe the projects objectives are:

- To advance young people inter-cultural competences, knowledge and understandings of migration through transnational, multi and interdisciplinary collaboration of academic staff, migrant organizations and postgraduate students.

- To develop engagement of Higher Educational Institutions (HEIs) with local and international migrant organizations as well as regional authorities to build bridges and share knowledge, good practices and raise awareness of issues around migration.

Through:

- Innovative education methods focusing on migration issues from the perspective of particular social science discipline including Economics, Education, Politics/ Sociology/Social Policy and Social Work.

- A Community of Practice, created around open access virtual platform (i.e. e-modules, examples of teaching activities and assessment strategy) for use and

- Handbooks of education methodologies and scenarios for workshops materials for direct use in the teaching curriculum.

Living Labs will work as interactive think tanks, where issues & opinions of public concern related to migration will be discussed.

Living labs will serve as an input for the projects' learning materials and thus they will operate as the meeting point of the diverse stakeholders of the project and they will involve interchange of ideas, methodology forming and collection of data.

The project involves partnership institutions based in Poland (Polish Japanese Academy of Information Technology, Warsaw School of Economics), UK (Glyndwr University and University of the West of Scotland), Finland (Aalto University) and Greece (Technopolis – City of Athens).

2. Integration of Albanian migrants in the Greek society and in Europe: legalization, equality in front of the law, learning of the Greek and other languages to help communication with the society, equality at work, school, education, and public services.

- To promote the spirit of friendship among the Albanians, Greeks and migrants of any nationality in Greece.
- Collaboration with organizations, government, NGOs and unions for integration.
- To take position against crime and criminals of any nationality, against racial and ethnic differences, against legal gaps and bureaucratic delays that aggravate the lives of immigrants.

3. Maintenance the identity of the Albanian migration: the Albanian language, culture, traditions, customs. Improve the quality of representation of Albanian immigration by attempting to gradually improve the image of Albania and Albanians in Greece, in Europe and the world.

Our priority than just maintaining our culture and pass it down to our youth, is the successful mediation between Greek society and Albanian community in Greece. The trust of the Albanian associations and their members it is as important for us as the recognition by the Greek and the Albanian state.

Generation 2.0 for Rights, Equality & Diversity

<http://g2red.org/>

Generation 2.0 for Rights, Equality & Diversity (Generation 2.0 RED) is a nonprofit organization consisted of young people who fight for the rights of socially vulnerable groups, regardless of their origin, ethnicity, religion, gender or sexual orientation.

We combine social action and research, aiming to promote human rights, equality and diversity, fight racism, xenophobia and discrimination. Our organization has experience on social action, sociological and legal research, project management and cultural events. We participate and collaborate with the biggest human rights networks not only in Greece but also in Europe, always aiming to the equal participation of young people in the social and political life of the country they live in. Generation 2.0 RED consists of members of the Board, with the major assistance of our volunteers with Greek or immigrant origin.

Facing racism as interdisciplinary phenomenon, we emphasize the need to understand, not the kind of racism, but the social processes and interactions that lead to racist attitudes. To achieve these objectives, our team maintains an organization dedicated to the issues that young people are facing in Greece and Europe, especially the problems of youngsters of immigrant origin, who were born and/or raised in Greece, but still are not considered equal to Greek citizens, legally or socially.

Permanent Functions:

- Legal Advice and Intercultural Mediation
- Career Counseling
- Access to the Asylum Service and Counseling to refugees
- Preparation for the naturalization interview
- Development of alternative educational material

Greek Forum of Migrants,

www.migrant.gr

Founded in September 2002, the Greek Forum of Migrants is a network of immigrant organizations and communities whose goal is to empower migrants through public expression and collective representation. Currently 39 immigrant organizations and communities participate in the GFM.

The mission of the GFM is to address the problems of immigrants as individuals and collectively, to develop cooperation, solidarity and joint actions with NGOs, trade unions and other organizations, advocacy of immigrants' rights and to promote their positions, proposals and demands in public debate in relation to the state, the government, the political parties, the Parliament and the municipal and local authorities and other bodies.

The vision of GFM is that immigrants will become a positive factor contributing to the promotion of the values and ideals of social solidarity, creative multiculturalism and respect for human rights. The GFM believes that this goal cannot be reached but through equitable public presence and representation of immigrants themselves.

The GFM focuses on providing direct information (personal or in groups- face to face or through social media) in regards to the needs and request of refugees, migrants. The use of social media and webpage is a project we are currently implementing with the support of OSF. We are organizing events and actions for refugees and migrants, for example we have organized with the help of our volunteers events inside hosting centers.

As learning Greek has been identified as an issue also for refugees the GFM implements programs of Greek lessons funded by Mercy Corps with the co-operation of the Municipality of Athens.

Also the GFM participates in the refugee community hosting center Welcommon.

Munting Nayon Cultural Education Center (Kindergarten)

<http://www.kasapi.gr/munting-nayon-educational-center/about/>

The Munting Nayon Cultural Education Center is a day-care facility providing early child education to pre-school children, aged 2 to 6 years, from a variety of migrant nationalities. It was set up in 1994 by KASAPI Hellas, as a collective effort of Philippine migrants, and continues as such. With limited resources, Munting Nayon attempts to meet the needs of migrant parents who work long hours in order to survive and who are predominantly single mothers and domestic workers. The centre operates from Monday to Friday, 7:30 – 18:00, freeing parents from having to involve third parties in after-school care for their children. Initially, Munting Nayon served the children of mostly Philippine migrants but it has now become a second home for the children of migrants from Africa (Ghana, Nigeria, Kenya, Sierra Leone, Liberia, Ethiopia, Eritrea), Asia (Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Pakistan, India, Philippines) and from the Balkans (Albania, Bulgaria, Romania, Ukraine). Children who have graduated from our school are now in Greek schools, or beyond, and have generally adjusted well into Greek society, unlike many children of migrants who did not enjoy such a nurturing introduction to their educational life.

Munting Nayon received funding from the Bodossaki Foundation under the “We are All Citizens” program of the EEA.

The mission of Munting Nayon is to enrich the quality of life of migrants by giving peace of mind to parents and by providing a progressive and holistic education to their children. The program is characterized by an emphasis on developing critical thinking and problem solving skills to prepare the children for the future and on enabling the children to be productive, confident and responsible members of their family, community and society.

OXFAM in Greece

<https://www.oxfam.org/en/refugee-and-migrant-crisis/greece>

Oxfam is an international confederation of 18 organizations which works with partners and local communities in more than 90 countries to end the injustices caused by poverty. It was founded in Britain in 1942, during the Second World War, to help ship food supplies to women and children in Greece.

Today, it works for the eradication of poverty across the world through campaigns that give the chance to people living under dire conditions to speak up, through the supply of emergency help and through long-term development programs in vulnerable communities. It also fights to end unlawful commercial rules, to improve health and education services for everyone and to resist to climate change.

In Greece, Oxfam first launched its programs in October 2015 offering support to the increasing number of people who arrived at the Greek islands seeking safety and a decent life; it now operates in Lesbos, Athens and Ioannina.

Its vision entails a just world without poverty; a world where people are valued and treated equally, enjoy complete rights as citizens and can influence decisions affecting their lives.

SolidarityNow

<http://www.solidaritynow.org>

SolidarityNow was established in 2013 by the philanthropic fund, the Open Society Foundations (OSF), to mitigate the damage engendered by the humanitarian crisis that Greece is currently enduring. At SolidarityNow, we believe that to emerge from this crisis, Europe must reclaim its vision of a community based on solidarity.

Our mission is multi-fold, to counter the most serious effects and urgent needs promulgated by the crisis, through the provision of relief services to members of the society most affected; as such SolidarityNow (in cooperation with the OSF) has opened two solidarity centres, one in Thessaloniki and one in Athens, inspired by founder George Soros' original idea of solidarity houses or safehouses for those seeking refuge.

In practice, the SolidarityNow centers take the shape of an open space housing NGOs that offer specialized services free of charge -ranging from targeted medical aid to legal counselling, child and family support to job-searching support catering to everyone -regardless of legal status. We seek to extend our help as much as we can by cooperating with public, private and grass-root organisations and by creating synergies and supporting as many initiatives with the aim of enhancing benefits across Greek society.

SolidarityNow equally contributes to the capacity-building of civil society through a system of re-granting, offering financial and programmatic support to organisations and projects in the aim of maximizing their impact in times of great necessity

Geranium_files

Geranium Files is a design research project, initiated by the graphic designers Katerina Antonaki and Natassa Pappa, investigating new approaches for multilingual neighborhoods of today's cities.

With this project we wish to research and question "how communication could be facilitated" from the graphic design perspective, and bring into public dialogue issues related to multilingual neighborhoods and different cultures that co-exist in the contemporary public space. We hope to discuss this complex theme, elucidate the problematic and challenge the implications of designing for "public space" and multicultural communities. We plan to collaborate with designers, creatives and theorists from diverse fields and collectively think of possible design solutions.

The Museum Without a Home:

An exhibition of hospitality

<http://www.museumwithoutahome.gr/en>

Amnesty International in Greece and Oxfam have created The Museum Without A Home wanting to thank Greeks for offering pieces of their lives, both metaphorically and literally, to this cause.

A museum different from the ordinary; a museum without a home. The Museum Without A Home has neither a specific location nor opening hours, while the objects it displays are not works of art, but things that the Greeks offered to people who needed protection and support and that played an important role in their everyday lives.

The domino effect

(short documentary, Greece 2015)

<http://www.ethnofest.gr/film/the-domino-effect/>

A plane tree, a group of Albanian people and the domino game are the central elements of the short film "The Domino Effect". Multiple chain reactions were triggered in order for all these elements to coexist in Protomagias Square at Pedion tou Areos Park in Athens. The government's neglect of the park and the current political and social situation in Greece are only some of the issues discussed by the game players. The film negotiates the limits between public and private space, as the lives, the memories and the daily routine of the Albanian people make the public private and vice versa.

The main issue is that there is more talk than action

It was referred through our qualitative method of research, that the behavior of many stakeholders which are responsible for the immigration issue such as NGOs, is more talk than action.

The main issues encountered during the study visits were referring to law.

- The flawed legal system (the residence permit paradox)
- The non effective migration legislation in Greece (immigration law need to be established)

One can only integrate when he has a stable situation

The main issues encountered during the study visits were the following:

- Problematic laws
- Strong difficulties in accrediting certificates of education and work experience for refugees
- Only third generation migrants can apply for citizenship
- Slow / time consuming legal procedures
- Governments see the immigration crisis only in short terms while according to the OECD reports in the long term, Europe cannot stand without influx of the immigrant workforce that is why good and complex integration policies are crucial

Is there a common way

The main points
we spotted during the study visits were:

- the maintenance of the migrants' national identity
- the integration made so far
- many job opportunities
- the help which the city of Athens provides (education, materials, etc)
- the importance of communities (supporting and helping their members by all means)

- the slow and hard procedure an immigrant has to go through in order to obtain citizenship or residence permit
- the absence of legal justice in human rights
- the negative attitude of some local communities
- the non existing long-term governmental strategy / the time consuming decision making
- the insufficient financial support received by EU

But, another issue made it self visible
during our research...

No matter the different statuses of their aims are common...

AFTER DISCUSSIONS OVER THE TOPICS AND THE STUDY VISITS WE REALIZED THAT WE HAD DIFFERENT PERSPECTIVES
IN OUR 3-PERSONED TEAM

multiple perspectives

The fact that each organization, country, city, community and even each individual sees a certain situation in his own way and act accordinly, makes it hard to act efficiently and united.

So, in order to unite and to make any improvements
we need to

The main points we spotted were:

- different ways of recognising the crisis (as EU countries)
- use of different vocabulary to talk about those issues

This lack of understanding contributes to issues in communications and effective teamwork.

Research how media in different countries portray refugees / migrants / immigrants with their use of words and images, and how that shapes public policy and public opinion.
